When the team at Ardent Fitness began installing new fitness flooring in the fitness center at Altair 18 in New York City, they discovered the subfloor had been compromised by a flood. The existing flooring had to be removed, and 4 inches of concrete had to be poured to create a solid foundation. The project demanded precision, expertise, and resilience—qualities no other fitness company could deliver at this scale.

Ardent Fitness approached this monumental task with confidence and skill. Our team completed the floor restoration and installed Ecore Performance Motivate Plus high-performance fitness flooring tailored to the building's needs, ensuring durability, style, and functionality.

In addition to the flooring challenge, Ardent Fitness also outfitted the space with various strength and conditioning equipment from StarTrac, Peloton, Hoist, TKO, and Body Solid.

Today, the residents of Altair 18 enjoy a pristine fitness center that exceeds expectations.

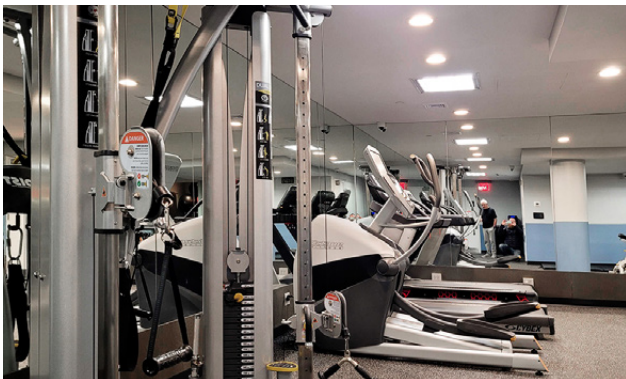

Core Conditioning

Created to withstand daily use, Ardent Fitness installed all-new cardio fitness equipment in the space.

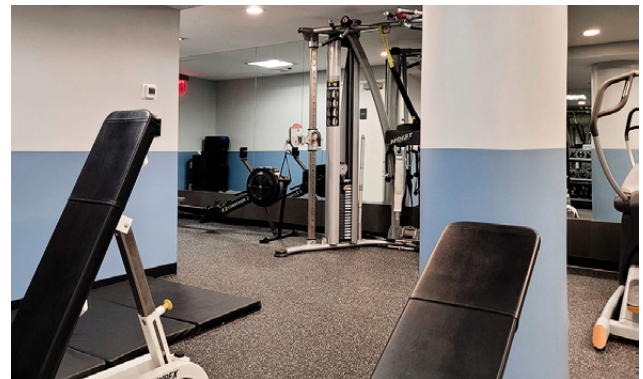

Space, Maximized

Ardent Fitness worked with the existing square footage and reconfigured the fitness space to maximize flow and create activity zones.

Superior Shock Absorption

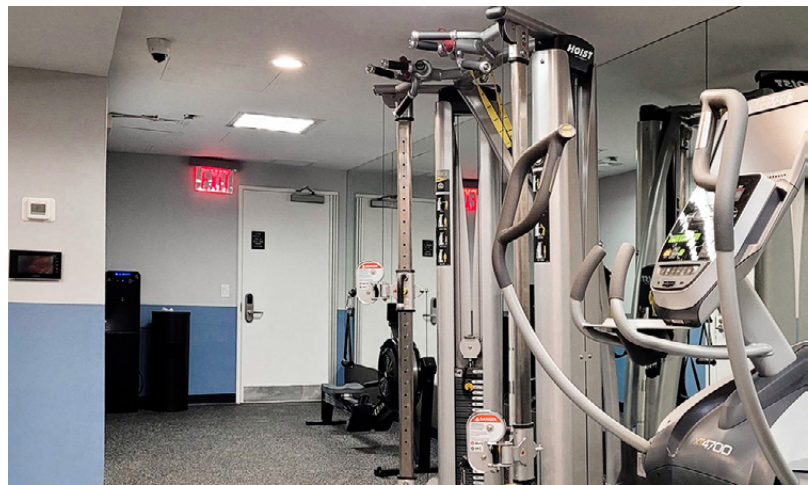

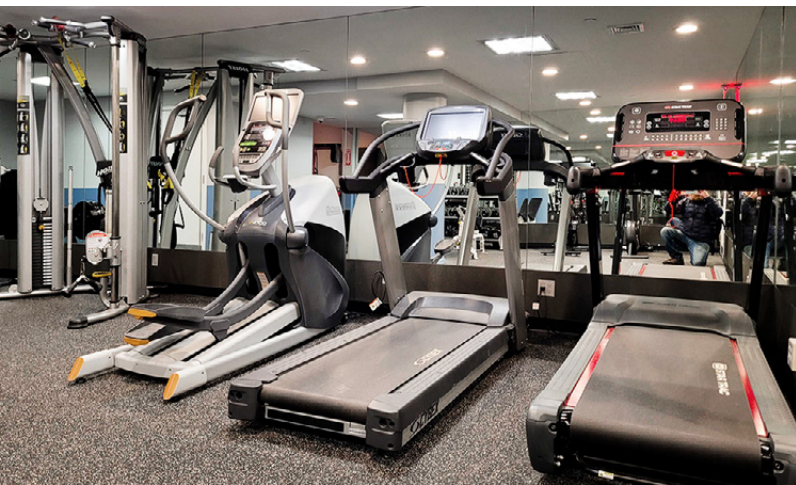

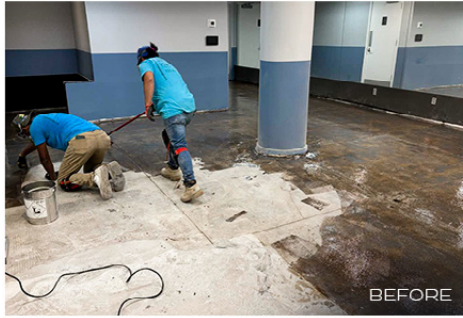

Designed with athlete safety in mind, Ecore Motivate Plus rubber flooring reduces the risk of injuries by absorbing impact and providing cushioning during workouts.

A Fine Fit

The right mix of fitness equipment offers a comprehensive solution for fitness facilities where space is at a premium.
